The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Tateishi et al (6584048).

Each of the independent claims read on reading a multi-layer disk by focusing on a first layer then on a second layer using the focusing error signal. Such limitation is notoriously well established in the art. The reference shows an optical disk reading apparatus wherein the disk having a first and second layers column 8 lines 25-30. a light source and photo detection means fig 4, a controller circuit receiving the focusing error signal FE fig 17 and a driver circuit to move the focusing point from a first layer to a second layer fig 17 element 11.

With respect to the limitations of claims 2 and 12. The limitation read on any element between the photo detector and the controller as shown in fig 17.

With respect to the limitation of claim 13. the reference discloses the use of a focusing error signal FE.

Art Unit: 2655

Claims 3-10 and 14-20 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. 5835460 and 6005832.
